Individuals with COVID-19 can be infectious several days before developing symptoms. Therefore, during the outbreak, NCFHP recommends the following:

- Conduct phone outreach when possible (or Zoom if worker gives permission).
- If approved to do outreach by your agency, do not enter camps or residences and explain to workers the need to keep physical distance outside
- Do not transport any workers.

When possible, call a worker or crew leader at the camp first.

 Ask if anyone is ill at the camp with a fever, cough, sore throat, or shortness of breath.

If you are on outreach and encounter a worker with fever, cough, sore throat, or shortness of breath:

All but two outreach workers should immediately leave the camp.

Ideally:

Conduct outreach to entire camp by phone.

- Address needs of any sick worker(s). See "Screening call with sick worker" tab (start with "When did you get sick?")
- Consult NCFHP guidance on conducting virtual visits.

If you need to visit the camp:

- Seek permission from your agency first.
- · Limit the number of staff to two who visit.
- · Follow the instructions below.

Ideally:

Call the worker from the phone inside your car.

If you need to remain with the worker:

- Put mask on yourself and give one to patient to put on
- Put on gloves
- Talk to them outside
- Maintain 6 ft of distance

See protocol for phone call with infected worker to triage and help them.
